

The Metropoly Challenge

The Metropoly Challenge is an excellent way of seeing any City of the World in a truly unique way! It works brilliantly as an add-on to any conference, giving your delegates the chance to get out of the meeting room and into the fresh air, explore the local surroundings and have some fun! It also a great stand alone team away day.

This is a very exciting Challenge with a focus on team bonding more than strategic team building. The emphasis is on being competitive, creative, having fun & getting to know your colleagues.

The Challenge can last either a full or half day. We deliberately give the teams far more than they can possibly complete in the time available so careful planning is required. It is also important that teams agree on and stick to a strategy.

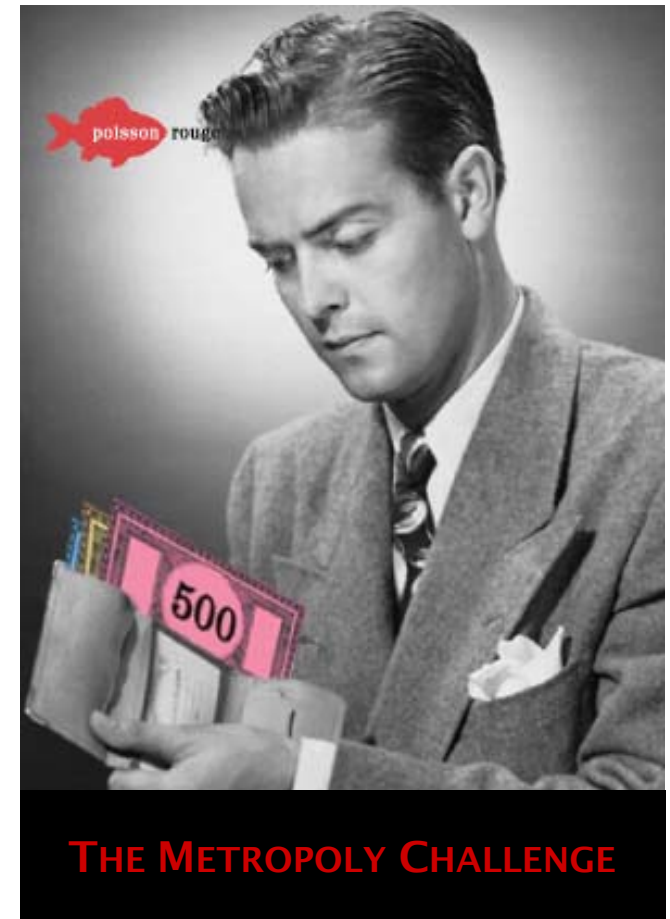

The Challenge starts with a briefing at which point the teams are divided up, the rules explained and the 'kit bags' handed out. These rucksacks contain an assortment of equipment and oddments, the use of which becomes apparent as the day unfolds.

Teams then set off on the challenge. They must plan a route around the city on foot, in cabs or using travel passes we give them amassing as many points as possible by:

- Collecting properties.
- Gathering pictorial evidence
- Solving riddles & clues
- Completing unusual 'Pot Luck' & 'Community Trove' tasks

At the end of the allotted time, the teams reconvene to have their points totalled & swap war stories over a well-deserved drink. We end the Challenge by revealing the winning team and awarding prizes.
