

The Wines of the World Challenge

The Wine of the World Challenge is a superb event at which participants can network, mingle, have fun, drink some wine, try some cheeses and win some great prizes....Not a bad way to spend an hour or two!

During the event each person will get a chance to try the wines and try and work out from the information in their passport which wine is which, and which cheese is which.

what they cost, what the grape is, which cheese goes with which wine etc. Once again prizes are given.

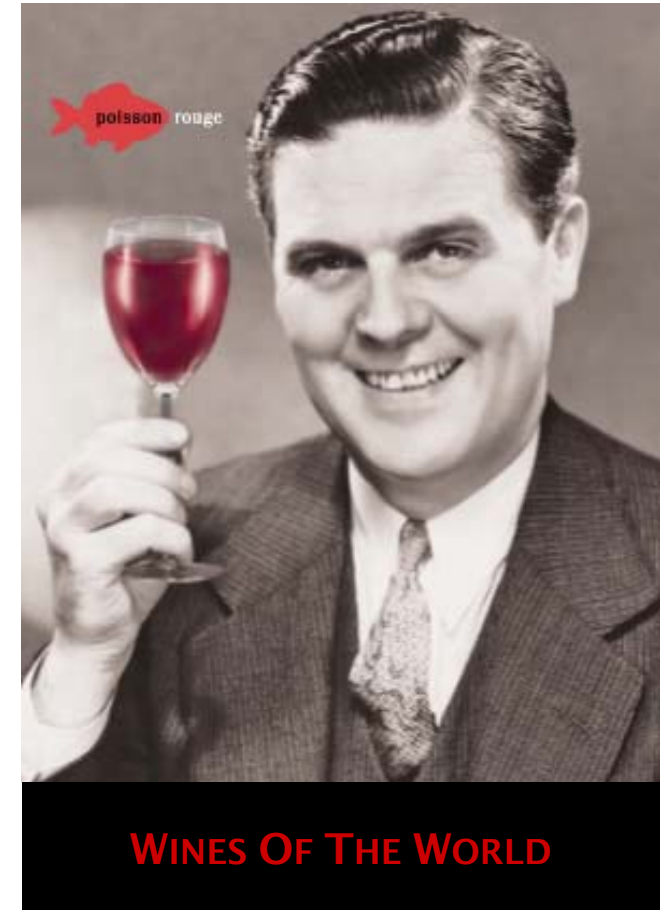

Throughout the event a Poisson Rouge wine expert will be on hand to give advice, talk about the different wines and judge the competitions. Our wine experts are all leading wine writers, TV pundits and celebrities of the wine world!

We start by setting up a number of wine stations. Each station will represent a country and have a selection of wines and cheeses from that country for blind tasting.

On arrival, participants are each given a 'wine passport'. As they wander amongst the wine stations they will get a stamp for each country visited. All participants who get stamps from all the countries represented go into a draw for a free case of international wines.
